

Mrs Evans and her friend.

Three nights Blitz it was terrible. So I lived in Bryn Mill that was my home and a bomb dropped outside but unexploded. So we had to evacuate then, so we went down to Gower then and stayed with relatives then until it had calmed down.

And then I worked in a reserved occupation for part of the war and I worked in an office that was a garage that did war work. So eventually I was called up I must have been about 18 and I was in the ATS.

By Kirsty Jones and Rebecca Marie Tyrell